‘I MET A MAN ALONG THE WAY’
An illustrated talk on encounters in Tuscany by

Angela Petch

Thursday 20th January 2022 at 7.30 pm

The Assembly Room, Council House

North Street, Chichester

Members £10.00 Non members £12.00

On her walks around the area where she lives in Tuscany, Angela has met a variety of people who all have something interesting to share. These include the restaurant owner who attracts clients from far and wide with his unusual menus, the woman whose mission it is to restore as many works of art as she can before it is too late, the steeplejack who loves cycling and walking to uncover the history of the area, and the elderly who have returned to their beloved birthplace after years of having to work elsewhere — everyone has a story.

Born post-war in Germany on account of her father being stationed there in the British army, Angela has not stopped travelling and collecting stories ever since. Much of her childhood was spent in Italy, where she married. Angela has worked for a Dutch company, lived in East Africa and now divides her year between Tuscany and West Sussex.

Wine and savoury biscuits will be served on arrival
